

1. What is the output of the program?
44
2. Which line contains a function header?
Line 5
3. Which line(s) constitute the main program?
Line 9
4. Is there a local variable defined anywhere? If so what is its scope?
Yes, y is a local variable and its scope is 9
5. Does the function f return a value?
No, the function f does not return a value.
6. Does the function f reference any global variables?
Yes, the function f references global variable x.
7. Which lines constitute the function body?
Lines 6 and 7
8. Are there any arguments used in the program? If so what and where are they?
Yes, an argument is used in the program. The argument is 12 and is in line 10.
9. Are there any parameters defined in the program? Explain.
Yes, a parameter is defined in the program on line 5 when defining the function.
X is a parameter in the function f
10. What does the last line do?
The last line preserves the function for future use and it is not executed.